

Senior Lecturer/Capstone Project Coordinator

Networking, Engineering and Data Analytics

- Melbourne CBD Location
- Fixed Full-Time Position
- Level C Academic Position

About us:

MIT prides itself on offering first-class Bachelor and Master level courses across a variety of disciplines. It allows students from around the world to directly leverage the skills of our academic team to achieve professional career outcomes. MIT delivers its own accredited higher education courses via the School of Business and the School of Information Technology and Engineering at both the MIT Melbourne and Sydney Campuses. In addition, MIT also delivers Federation University qualifications at both campuses. This position is located in the School of Information Technology and Engineering which offers courses in Computer Networking, Security, Cyber Security, Software, Mobile Telephony, Signal Processing, Embedded Systems, Electrical and Electronic Circuits, Data Analytics, Artificial Intelligence, Cloud Engineering, System Architecture, VPN, Python and Java Programming.

About the role:

The Senior Lecturer/ Capstone Project Coordinator will provide academic leadership in the School of Information Technology and Engineering. More specifically, you will be responsible for the project co-ordination of the Work Integrated Learning (WIL) elements or capstone units of the Networking, Engineering and Data Analytics courses for both undergraduate and post-graduate students. MIT Melbourne recognises the importance of WIL as a powerful learning tool. You will be seen as an integral conduit between student, curriculum and industry to ensure that students are applying their knowledge via realistic industry-based projects. In addition, this role will involve content delivery via lectures, laboratory sessions and tutoring, for both undergraduate and post-graduate students. A position description is available at: <http://www.mit.edu.au/about-mit/jobs-mit>
